COALITION FAILS
Nationalists Renew Demands in Behalf of Von Tirpitz in Controversy.

Berlin—Germany today was in the throes of another governmental crisis through the resignation last night of the Marx-Stroemann cabinet, and President Ebert was expected to consult the various party leaders as soon as the Reichstag reconvened, with a view to solution of the difficulty.

Chancellor Marx is continuing to conduct business at the president's request. It is understood that the whole Reichstag may very likely in realignment of the ministry, with Marx still in power. The president, in conformity with parliamentary usage, is expected to summon Dr. Hirst, national leader, and ask him to attempt formation of a government.

Out of Running.

The nationalists, however, are believed to have eliminated themselves from serious consideration through their advocacy for the chancellor's post of Admiral von Tirpitz, noted advocate of "ruthless" U-boat warfare, and their refusal to accept the Dawes reparation report without reservations.

The government's resignation resulted from a breakdown of the long drawn out attempts to construct a straight bourgeois coalition which could work with the reichstag as composed on the basis of the recent election. The nationalists refused to meet the middle parties' conditions calling for endorsement of the Marx government's policy as a prerequisite to the formation of such a bourgeois coalition.

Buck Von Tirpitz.

Instead, they renewed their demands on Von Tirpitz' behalf and stipulated that the question of foreign and internal policies be made a secondary point in the negotiations. These stipulations were embodied in a resolution adopted at a lengthy nationalist meeting today, but the middle parties refused even to reply to this pronouncement, and the cabinet resignation followed.

There's No Trick to Renting a
Janesville
Apartment

There's no trick to it, that is, when you let a Gazette ad to things for you.

In fact, it's as easy to rent an apartment as it is to telephone an ad-taker. Mrs. Michaelis, Milwaukee Avenue, has just let a Gazette ad to this for her, and she knows.

The day after my ad appeared I had twenty-five applicants for the apartment I offered," she said. "It was kept so busy answering calls, I could hardly eat my dinner."

Renting problems sometimes you do best on your own. Call 2500 and ask for an ad-taker!

TABLEAUS PORTRAY STORY OF POPPY

Miss Decker Is New President of Business Club

Program Given at High School
Monday by Legion Auxiliary Successful.

The story of the Poppy, official flower of the American Legion, was basically clearly home to the members of the series of tableaus presented Monday night at the high school, under the auspices of the Auxiliary of the Richard Ellis post. Six hundred persons formed the audience, which saw the picturization by living models of the spirit which inspired the adoption of this flower by the service men's organization, and enjoyed a well-arranged program of music and speeches.

Most artistic and inspiring was the presentation of "In Flanders' Fields," and the reproduction of the painting presented to the Legion by the French, entitled "American." In the first, Walter Krueger recited the poem as he held the book outstretched, while Mrs. Sue Stoen, Dorothy and Lawrence Novakas as the other soldiers in the picture. George Beulau, as "The American Doughboy," and D. J. McDaniel, as the French poilu, made the reproduction of "America."

Other Tableau Scenes
Other scenes in the series of six tableaus were: "The Americans Come," presented by the Legion dring song; "Charles Biltmore and Lawrence Ellis: 'Showing Disabled Men Making Poppies,'" with Harold Gau, Peter Fuerst and Mrs. Bush Berg; "Familiar Street Scene Poppy Day," Mmes. H. Reinken, Sue Bush, and Miss Lola Van Pool as poppy girls, with a troupe of civilians; and the last, "The Use of Poppy Money."

The last picture brought home the patriotic fact that while the money is used to show the crippled, it is used to help the home with the widowed mother and her children. In the hospital scene were Harold Baumgartner, Burr Strong, Dewey Oberholzer, and Mrs. Caroline Meyer and Mrs. Drew. In the scenes in the home were Mmes. Wirtz, Schmitz, Leo Lehman, and Mrs. McMurphy.

In Memory of Comrades
The Legion Auxiliary, organized in 1920, built on the memory of our comrades who died in the World war, and are dedicated to assistance of those of our comrades who came back disabled," said John W. Gross, Jr., commander of the Richard Ellis post, in addressing the audience. "The poppy has become the sacred flower of the Legion, and is given to the patriotic men on the battle-fields of France and covered the graves of our fallen comrades. The money is all used for the care of the disabled veterans in the hospitals and the orphans left in the home without a father."

Most inspiring of the many musical numbers was the singing of Mr. and Mrs. Parks of the "Mormon Tabernacle" as they stood on a pedestal. Other solos were by Dr. T. J. Snodgrass, Arthur Schoen, Alfred Olson, and several members by the American Legion quartet. Arthur Teal recited "Honor to the Dead by Serving the Living," and Mrs. Evelyn McElhinney gave a reading "Why Do They Call This War the Great War?" The organ and violin section of Miss Ursula Johnson, the high school orchestra furnished music for the program.

In charge of the various pictures were Mmes. Alice Carter, chairman; Frank Drew, Lee Schmitz, Herman Reinken, Otto Bach, Willard Schmitz, and Miss Marie Murphy.

CLINTON BOY OF 13 FOUND DEAD FROM RIFLE SHOT

Alongside that of his grandfather's, who is a lover of firearms, he has taught his son to care for one and familiarized him with the dangers in handling them. The boy was closely attached to his grandparents, who lived around the corner from his father's home, and it has been his habit to call each morning on his way to school and stop for a moment.

He left his home at 5:10 a. m. for school and 15 minutes later was dead. He apparently had gone to the Christensen house and found his grandparents gone and the door locked. He knew where the key was kept but, prior to Tuesday, never entered unless Mr. or Mrs. Christensen was there. Tuesday he unlocked the door.

Rushed to Front Yard
The boy was reconstructed by Mr. Wadley, the boy had entered the home, taken the rifle from the corner, and removed a cartridge from one of the boxes which his grandfather kept on a shelf in the same room, and then shot himself. The boy then rushed to the door, resting for a moment, with his left hand placed over the wound, against the door panel, and leaned for support on the chair against the door and fell dead in front of the house, and died.

No one saw the youth enter or leave the house. Solon Cooper was the first to see the body lying on the ground, and paid no attention. Leaving he was sleeping there. Mrs. Harold Napper came along a moment later and made the discovery, summoning Dr. A. S. Parker.

The body was removed to the Shuster and Woods undertaking room after Coroner Whalen had investigated.

Mr. Christensen told Coroner Whalen the boy had not touched the gun since a week ago last Sunday, when he and Bostrom took it and went to Trinity Creek, then brought it back to the same place. The boy, then 13, was in the seventh grade in school and was of a sunn disposition, and his son shocked.

His grandparents, to whom he has been very close, were brokenhearted. He was born in Clinton. His mother died seven years ago and his father married Mrs. May Beck of Jameson, and they have a son, John. McElhinney's father, Roy Chambrian, works in Marcellus and there when notified of his son's death.

The parents, two sons and two stepbrothers survive, together with the grandparents.

ROTARY GOVERNOR VISITS LOCAL CLUB

Higher Ethical Standards Appealed for by Madison Man in Talk Here.

Elect of Miss Miriam Decker as president of the Business and Professional Women's Club was announced at the annual luncheon Monday night in the W. C. A. Ballots were mailed to all members several days ago, and returns tabulated Monday night. Other officers: Vice president, Miss Alice Sutton; secretary, Miss Hazel Lusted; treasurer, Miss Helen Peterson.

The new officers were presented with corsages composed of violets and lilies of the valley. Each bouquet had a single red tulip in the center, thus carrying out the patriotic color scheme of the banquet decorations. Miss Helen West, physical director, whose resignation was recently announced, was given a vote of thanks, and presented a plaque in appreciation of her work as club song leader and in other ways.

Mrs. Willard Blyer, Madison, gave an address on "World Peace," declaring this means more than just good will, that the peace must be attained through peace with justice, as there is much difference of opinion about the kind of machinery that should be set up to settle international disputes. Every citizen should study this problem carefully, the speaker declared, and have an opinion of his own.

"It is not a problem of logic," said Mrs. Blyer. "It is a psychological problem. We cannot do away with armistice until we have arrived at a way other than war to settle international quarrels."

Eighty-four members and guests were present. Music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Miss Dorothy Stephenson and Martin Wittenberg, Paul Ryan and Barney Watson.

St. Patrick's Is Awarded Banner in Grade League

Presentation of awards to grade school baseball teams winning the first three places in the recently closed series was made at a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. First place, St. Patrick's, representing the grade schools; St. Patrick's School, St. Mary's school and St. Paul's school were present. V. E. Klontz, vice-president of the high school, made the awards.

St. Patrick's school, champion of the city, was given a large banner; while ribbons were awarded to the players of the Adams school team for second place; and the Washington school team third place. The Washington school defeated the St. Mary's after a hard Monday night, thus, breaking the tie for third place.

Mr. Klontz, in his talk, praised the spirit of sportsmanship which has prevailed throughout the season, and especially commended the Grant school. The players on that team were the youngest and smallest in the league, but made a good showing.

Each school prepared a "stunt."

Among them were a cornet solo by L. Smallbrook of the Garfield school; group singing, led by J. Fernal, cornetist, by the Washington school group; piano solo by Victor Schmidt, St. Paul's school; elegy by J. Daly, Irish comedy duet by J. Daly, J. J. Delaney, and piano trio by J. P. Kelly, J. J. McCarthy and J. Daly, all of the St. Patrick's school; group singing "Hall, Hall," led by E. Wolda and R. Trusdell of the Grant School; piano solo by H. Schmidtly of St. Mary's school; and a comedy song "A Preacher Went a Hunting" by Mr. Bergman. In the peanut race which concluded the program, J. H. H. of the Garfield school, was first; Clarence Schmidt, St. Paul's, second, and Charles Dorrans, Jefferson, third.

The baseball field meet, which was scheduled for after school Monday, was postponed until Friday morning. Wet grounds and general conditions with other activities are the reasons.

The Tax Bill.

Passage of the tax bill in both the senate and house has been by such an overwhelming vote that the public may express some amazement over it. It is not the Mellon bill. That bill has had no chance of becoming a law from the beginning. That was demonstrated after the very first session of the ways and means committee of the house. For the reason that the Mellon plan could not be written into a law the Gazette has from the inception of the legislation held to the one principle of the need for tax reduction in keeping with economies in administration. First the economies must be established. That has been done by the budget system.

After all has been said and done, the regular expenses paid and the bonus payments met, we shall have a surplus of $133,000,000 according to the greatest expert of the senate, Mr. Smoot. There will be a reduction of 25 per cent in income taxes for this year—a relief to thousands of people of one quarter of their taxes. That is a big saving for the nation.

We are getting down to real business in government. The tax problem is out of the way. We have the immigration bill as a law and America can, on the eve of a readjustment, find herself a better nation than ever.

There is no doubt about it, that the most wonderful baby ever born is the one most fully arrived in the home of some of your friends.

Hirst Announces for Governor

No one will be able to read the announcement of A. R. Hirst as a candidate for governor without agreeing with most of what he says at once. We may not all agree about the candidacy of the highway engineer but we will admit that his appointment of the governor is correct. Never has Wisconsin been confronted with so much politics in state government as now, even in the palmy days of the eleventh story outfit. The effort of the governor to build for himself a machine which would perpetuate himself in power and for whatever purpose he might wish to use it, has been so successful as to give the governor the whip hand over the La Follette machine which hates him, but which bows its head and humbly eats out of the governor's hand.

In spite of the bitter antagonism of the La Follette crowd of political leaders, they recognize Blaine as so strong that they must reckon with him as a fact, though despising and hating him for his legislative and administrative program. Mr. Hirst has been an efficient state engineer. He has not been what might be termed "popular." He has antagonized many men and many interests. He has, as all men of large administrative ability will, often been autocratic and at times most domineering. It may be that we need any type of a governor. Surely we do not need any more Blaines and political time-servers. Mr. Hirst has created something of a sensation.

On the other hand, looking at the matter from a plain political viewpoint, Hirst's candidacy will probably make it possible to nominate Blaine. Heretofore it has been somewhat uncertain. With Kreutzer in the field mobilizing the strongest opposition to Blaine about him, the vote for Comings would be helpful to defeat Blaine. With the normal vote against Blaine divided between Kreutzer and Hirst, Blaine may laugh at the situation. It is not known and one cannot gather from Mr. Hirst's announcement whether he is in favor of La Follette or not and is seeking the La Follette vote, but if he is, he again will divide the Blaine opposition in the La Follette ranks with Comings and again aid Blaine to win. Many things may happen between now and primary day, however.

One thing seems sure, the Blaine administration in spite of the obstacles put in the way of an investigation of the scandal and gossip at the capital, is in for a most thorough airing during this campaign.

PHILIPPINE RUBBER INDUSTRY

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—That the Philippine Islands are more suitable to the cultivation of rubber than the basin of the Amazon is the finding of the experts of the American government who for the past year have been making studies of the subject. Tremendous tracts of land are entirely suitable to rubber cultivation in the Oriental insular possessions of the United States, while the soil of the Amazon does not provide the exact sort of nutrition for the rubber plant.

Some two years ago the American rubber industry became much exercised over the action of the British government in imposing export limitations on the tonnage of crude rubber which could be shipped from the East Indian possessions of Great Britain and from Ceylon. An export tax also was imposed. It was estimated that this action added between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 to the annual rubber bill of the American people.

Unwilling to submit to this arrangement, American rubber interests induced the government to make surveys in various parts of the world to ascertain if it would not be possible for rubber to be produced under American domination to the end that American consumers would not be dependent on British legislation.

Both the department of agriculture and the department of commerce sent out exploration parties and much valuable data has been gathered. The department of agriculture has gone into the scientific aspects of the problem, investigating soil, climate and rainfall which are all important factors in rubber culture.

The Philippine lands deemed best adapted to rubber cultivation, according to a new report just submitted by the department of agriculture, are in the large island of Mindanao and in the adjacent smaller islands. Mindanao is about the same size as the state of Indiana. These lands are now growing very little rubber, chiefly producing native grasses and timber. There is but one plantation in Mindanao and three small ones on the neighboring island of Basilan. The largest consists of 180,000 acres.

The new soil survey made of these lands says that they are richer in constituents needed for rubber than the lands of Sumatra and the Malay Peninsula where so much of the world's supply of rubber has come from. There is a general similarity between rubber land and corn land, so far as the soil is concerned. The rubber plant requires a much hotter climate, however. While rubber can not be raised in the corn belt, corn can be raised to excellent advantage on rubber land, the government experts find. In the Philippines as much as 250 to 300 bushels of corn are raised on an acre of land. This phenomenal yield is possible by raising three or four crops a year.

Four species of rubber have been tried in this region. They are the Ceiba, the Castilloa, the Flous, and the Hevea or Para. The latter has proved the only practical one for the Philippines. The department of agriculture explorers brought back many samples of soils and will make laboratory experiments and analyses in Washington which will finally determine which soils are best adapted for rubber production.

The party which went to South America to study the rubber-producing possibilities of the Amazon Basin found that the climate and rainfall are ideal but that the soil is not what it should be. It is true that much rubber grows wild in Brazil, but it is noticed that the high quality rubber growth appears only in certain soils. The Hevea plant requires a heavy red soil underlain by an open sub-soil which permits the long tap root to penetrate into the earth. It is expected that these reports will result in abandonment of the Amazon Basin as a rubber source for the United States.

The Philippines are regarded as better adapted to rubber cultivation for the further reason that labor is more skilled and more plentiful there than in South America. The Brazilian labor is scarcely skilled at all in rubber culture and also is regarded as rather unreliable. In the Philippines, relatively cheap labor can be obtained. This labor is said to be more skilled in rubber cultivation and very dependable. Because the Philippines are not so far distant from the Dutch East Indies, the Malay Peninsula and Sumatra where rubber is an old industry, there are many laborers who have worked in the rubber plantations available in the Philippines.

American rubber producers probably would rather have their operations under the American flag. It would be possible for the American rubber companies to buy up vast tracts in Brazil, but the sovereignty of the land would be foreign and the laws could not be controlled.

The Philippines are American and it is thought Americans would care much about the murmur of the Amazon Basin as a rubber source for western institutions.

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

MANHOOD.
What is manhood, boasted much?
Something we can sense or touch?
Can it be a brilliant thing?
Like a jewel in a ring?
Can the teller in the bank?
Add it up and place its rank?
Can surveyors draw a line?
Separating yours from mine?
Marking with their rigid arts?
Where it ends and where it starts?

What is manhood? How and when
Comes this treasured thing to men?
When depicted is the store?
Can a rich man order more,
Or a poor man from his lot?
Sell to him who has it not?
Can you save it, would you say,
For the far-off rainy day,
Spinning many a simple need?
For one great and glorious deed?

What is manhood? Tell us, sage!
Printed letters on a page?
Victory wreaths or medals bright?
Any cornered beast will fight?
Any man who's trouble free,
Very fair will seem to be,
So, I fancy, deeper lies?

This rare gift which mortals prize:
"Tis the thought and not the deed,
"Tis the spirit, not the breed?

What is manhood, boasted much?
Nothing we can hold or touch?
"Tis the truth to battle on?
When the last false friend is gone?
It is living, conscience clear,
Day by day and year by year,
Suffering loss and taking gain,
Letting neither leave a strain;
Being warrior, neighbor, friend,
Brave and patient to the end.

HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1924.

Venus in malefic aspect dominates this day according to astrology. Mercury and Jupiter are in kindly sway.

It is well for men to avoid business transactions with women while this sway prevails. Love affairs also may be exceedingly hazardous.

Contracts and leases have a fairly promising aspect and those who enter business partnerships under this rule should succeed, unless they associate with women.

There is a threatening sign for theaters, which are to be the center of much anxiety, owing to changes in policy.

The stars foretell anxieties for picture producers as well as for other purveyors of amusement or there may be a period of much saving on the part of the people.

Contracts and leases appear to presage rise in the price of food stuffs.

Women in conduct probably will be disappointed in the coming elections, for astrologers predict that they will have little chance to win political office this year.

New discoveries and clever inventions are prognosticated, mechanical devices to take the place of human service multiplying.

Troubles regarding race aspirations in regard to the United States is foretold by the stars who warn against whatever is contrary to the highest ideals of human progress.

Russia will continue to be disturbed by the passing of Mars through Aquarius and may make alliances of great concern to the United States.

Mercury is in a place most beneficial for educational matters and forecasting much progress for western institutions.

The Four Stragglers

By FRANK L. PACKARD

Copyright, 1923, Geo. H. Doran Co. Serialized by Ledger Syndicate.

CAPTAIN FRANCIS NEWCOMBE, ex-soldier in the great war, who breaks into society, but who is really Shadow Varno, noted figure of underworld, and in charge of various big steals that have set London and New York in a roar.

RONNELL, a valet, who has done some big thefts on his own account, and the FOURTH STRAGGLER, who bears the crook and who disappears.

THE WITCHES, a flower-girl, whom Newcombe has adopted and sent to America to a finishing school, with the idea of insuring social contacts of the best kind, to help her husband, in executing some big hauls.

"Witches," Captain Francis Newcombe, with hand thrust forward, his eyes narrowed, searched every lineament of Locke's face.

"Look well," Locke spoke with scarcely any movement of the lips, in a cold, dead way, without inflection in his voice. "Look well! It do you little good. You never saw a face like this. Shall I tell you where I first saw you? It was on that ticket one night, a night during the great German offensive. There were four men there. Three of them sat together with their backs against the trees; the other lay face down on the ground a little distance away. One of the three I found, I called it a straggler. 'Like us,' you said. 'I am the fourth straggler.'

Captain Francis Newcombe drew slightly back. He made no other movement. He said nothing. His eyes remained riveted on Locke's face.

He was almost done in that night," said Locke. "I'd had two days and two nights of it; I did not hear what you said—what particular place it was, for instance, that had been robbed. I heard of the share that each of you had played in the affair. I saw your faces. I heard the Frenchman, a self-admitted crook, call you as a greater than himself, even though he was himself an animal in all brute. I heard you check him with your name on his lips. I heard him call your attention to my presence there. I heard you say you had not forgotten—and in a flare of light I saw you with your rifle across your knees, its muzzle only a few feet away.

"Then in the ensuing darkness I was lucky enough to be able to wriggle silently back a few yards in among the trees—and a second later I saw the flash of your rifle shot."

Locke stopped. His lips were dry. He touched them with the tip of his tongue.

The two men stood eying each other. Neither moved.

Locke spoke again:

"As I crawled out of that ticket that shot I took all my life to bring you to account. I did not know your name. I did not know who you were, but I knew you face—I lived; but I knew your face—and I was sure as we are sometimes strangely sure of the future, that some time, in some place, you and I would meet again. But it was four years before we did; and in those four years, during which I have traveled a great deal on my own, I have met many faces in a crowd or merely passing on the street, whether here or abroad, but I searched in the hope that it might be yours.

"By God!" Captain Francis Newcombe with livid face surged up.

"Woman's Greatest Asset—

Health is woman's greatest asset. Upon her depends charm, beauty, power to attract others, happiness and success, and it is what really makes life worth living. Thousands of women suffer from headaches, backache, nervousness, mental depression and mysterious pains, who could find immediate relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with its gentle tonic roots and herbs. For nearly half a century this medicine has been recognized as the standard remedy for women's ills.

Etiquette for Church Weddings

This is the way the church wedding proceeds:

"Furthermore," she continued, "Locke did not stop saving my life, so it increased my weight from one-hundred seven pounds to one-hundred and thirty-two and left me enjoying the best of health."

"Five years ago, while living in Seattle, Washington, I was taken so ill that no one thought I could live. Complications resulting from stomach trouble brought me down to my bed and I could not even walk two steps. In fact, I was so bad that I thought I had no chance of ever getting out of bed again. The bridegroom comes from the vestry, followed by the groom, who, with his best man beside him, stands at the church steps."

"At the same moment the bridal procession starts, the ushers two by two, next the bridesmaids, then the maid of honor alone; lastly the bride on her father's right arm. The ushers divide the church aisle, taking places on either side. The bridegroom comes from the vestry, followed by the groom, who, with his best man beside him, stands at the church steps."

HIRST TELLS WHY HE WANTS TO BE GOVERNOR

To the electors of Wisconsin:

I announce my candidacy for the position of my native state, Governor of Wisconsin at the September primaries. I make this announcement with the greatest reluctance, because entering the campaign involves laying my profession of highway engineering, which has been my life work, and in the practice of which I have had 16 years of active service.

Nothing but an emergency fraught with the gravest possibilities of evil could bring me into politics. I could not do it in racing this race. Such an emergency does, in fact, exist.

The present executive is carrying out a deliberately confused plan of holding the government in a political machine created to advance his personal political fortune. In the process he has already impeded the efficient operation of the state departments, wrecked the morale and drained the life out of the state departments.

He attempted, by legislation, to make the state government a committee, but failed. However, he has gained his end in another way, and every civil service employee of the state has reason to fear his power. These have likewise been brought under his domination.

Even the institutions which were helpful to him and dependent on him were used as weapons to be wrecked, the state board of control and the whole organization and morale of this the most important educational body in the state. The costs of the aroused womanhood of Wisconsin he sneered at and disregarded.

Only when a greater mind than his came along did he then reluctantly give up his political domination.

He attempted to meet the tax situation by a new body, and thus placed in his sole control the great assessing and equalizing power of the state.

"The power to tax is the power to destroy," he said, and the state university—the boast of Wisconsin and the world—is free from the sinister menace of his political designs.

He has now before him a candidate for every elective office. I am not a politician. I have asked no man to be my candidate, and I am not a candidate for any office.

I have made no promises or pledges to any person, body or organization.

I am my own man, God willing, always have been, and God willing, always will be.

However, I am not a novice in governmental affairs. My seven years of service in the highway work of the state have included association with every state official and department, with the legislature, with county boards and with county and local officials, and familiarity with the machinery of state and county government and with legislative methods and procedure. This training should be of value to me in the tasks at hand.

—R. H. Hirst.

Record of service to the people of Wisconsin is an open book. The results of my efforts: the cleanliness, safety, economy, efficiency of the whole highway work of Wisconsin and of our state and county highway organizations; all of these facts are well known to every citizen.

It is evident, therefore, I pledge a clean, efficient, honest and economical administration of the state government. My past record is the best guarantee I will perform that which I pledge.

I hope to earn, and ask the suffrage and support of all those who believe in clean, efficient, honest and economical service to Wisconsin, to my friends, and to my supporters, the best I have in me, both as a fighter in the cause of the people of Wisconsin, the soul of which is to this and many other very significant events of the last three years, and I propose to do so let the

"The governor desires for his own political ends, the control of these great highway organizations, for the sake of the millions of dollars of the people's money which they expend. He proposes to make the highway forces a political machine and the highway program of Wisconsin and its counties a political asset."

"This I shall help to prevent if the power within me lies. I cannot effectively fight this program of his while a state employee. I have therefore resigned and will fight it as a candidate for the governorship, as can they give to the people of Wisconsin in the real facts as to this and many other significant events of the last three years, and I propose to do so let the chips fall where they may."

"Keeping the state service clean and effective and the great highway enterprise out of politics is to only a degree the task before the people of Wisconsin. Taxation must be kept down to the least possible amount required to meet the needs of the people. These and many other important problems must be fought out in the coming campaign."

Never Candidate Before Mr. Hirst discussed at length the place which he declared Wisconsin had held among other states for efficient state government. He charged that the present administration has not "restored the highest ideals of this respect."

"If elected governor, I pledge a clean, efficient, honest and economical administration of the state government," Mr. Hirst concludes. It also announces himself in favor of keeping taxation down "to the least possible amount required to meet the needs of the people."

Otherwise, he has been connected with the state highway department since its organization. Prior to entering state employment, he was connected with the geological survey at the university, he never held an elective state office.

Mr. Hirst's resignation becomes effective Saturday, May 21. The highway commission, in session today, is expected to select a new engineer immediately.

MC ADOO LEADERS IN NEW STRATEGY

Spread Impression That Nomination of Mae Would Eliminate Bob.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1924, by the Janesville Gazette Co., Inc., proprietors of the Janesville Gazette.

Washington.—The latest bit of campaign strategy affecting the selection of a democratic presidential nominee is underway with Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin. The Maedel campaign has started to prove its impression that if their leader is nominated the Wisconsin senator will not run independently.

So far as can be determined from the LaFollette camp, there is absolutely no guarantee that the senator will nominate himself even if the democrats nominate a man to his liking. But the railroad brotherhoods and their benchmen are quietly making themselves at home in the campaign and would do anything in their power to bring about the nomination of the former director general of railroads, who was liked to run when he was in Illinois, but who is not now in the race in backings McAdoo, at least up to the time of the democratic convention, for the decision by LaFollette does not have to be made until the Cleveland conference of July fourth when the leaders of the farm labor group will meet to discuss their plan of campaign.

Competing Demands.—

The LaFollette Senator LaFollette would like to have as a vice presidential nominee someone whom he could endorse if he did run independently. It is also a part of the effort to compel the democrats to look to the radical and progressive wing of their party rather than to the conservative element for a nominee.

Naturally, the McAdoo managers consider LaFollette's claim of being a simple progressive or political eligible for LaFollette support, but the Wisconsin senator would hardly approve any candidate who ran on a platform which did not include his pet issues like government ownership, something to which Mr. McAdoo is opposed.

Reduced to its essence, nobody can control LaFollette, not even the democratic national convention, though the railroad brotherhoods may be a good deal more willing with him when he maps out his campaign. The rail men would not wish to see any votes go to LaFollette unless it was apparent he had a good chance of victory, for if he was likely to prove a bad third they would concentrate to the nomination who seemed more friendly to their program.

The fate of the Howell-Baxley bill in congress will have much to do with their attitude toward the republican party and President Coolidge. To date, the administration leaders have worked tooth and nail to prevent the measure from coming to a vote, while a coalition of democrats and insurgent republicans in the house have been the rules in forcing consideration.

On the whole it is more natural for the radicals to support the democratic rather than republican ticket this time for in practically all the important issues the radicals and democrats have worked together. The tax bill, the inflation and farm legislation will probably come out of their united strategy. In a sense the democrats have become the radical party and they will go to the country largely on the record made by their representatives in congress during the past few months.

Al Smith Wants to Know.—

Speaking of radicals and progressives, the friends of Governor Al Smith are eager to know in which he cannot be classed as progressive. His record as governor has been progressive. The McAdoo men reply that Smith himself may be a progressive but that he is being supported by Tammany and conservative elements in the party—all of which however would be upset if two-thirds of the delegates voted for him. Al Smith could run on the platform of the convention as suitably as any other candidate. So could Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas, another progressive, and Senator Wheeler of Montana—talked of for vice president—and Senator Walsh of Montana and Glass of Virginia. They all class themselves as progressives, though some of them are to follow before closing up with LaFollette.

LaFollette Silent.—

The next move must come from Senator LaFollette if he intends to influence the democratic convention, but the chances are he will remain silent until after he has gone through the motions at least trying to reform his own party's national convention which is to nominate President Coolidge. He will have 10 days or more in which to speak them before the democratic national convention begins its sessions.

MARTIN IS NAMED
CHIEF JUSTICE OF
U. S. APPEALS COURT

George B. Martin.

Justice George B. Martin of the court of customs appeals has been nominated by the president to be chief justice of the United States court of appeals for the circuit of Columbia, succeeding the late Justice Constantine J. Smyth.

FLAT REDUCTION
OF 10 PCT. VOTED ON PAVING BILLS

$27,525, "every property owner on streets to be paved this year benefiting by the 10 per cent slash made possible by the low bid of the R. R. Birdsall & Sons company, Racine.

The amount of the Birdsall contract is $274,226.90, the manager's report showed to which must be added six per cent, or $22,453.80, for overhead charges such as engineering, inspection, printing, advertising, and so forth. This expense already has amounted to $6,000 and is the lowest it can possibly be figured, the report said.

Thus the total cost of the paving is figured at $290,754.71, from which is deducted $56,190 as the city's share of paving 26,190 square yards of intersections and 4,574 cubic yards of excavating. This leaves $234,564.71 as the amount necessary for the special assessment. This assessment, as originally planned before the contract was let, totaled $278,259.75, or a surplus of $43,685.04 over the amount needed from this source. With a flat 10 per cent cut, the reduction amounts to $37,823.07.

Upon recommendation of Mr. Traxler, it was voted to demand mill tests only on cement used in the 1924 paving.

New Arterial Ordinance

The new arterial ordinance as recommended by the special committee on traffic and adopted under a suspension of the rules is much more drastic than the old one, which has been in effect two years, calling for traffic to stop at 65 intersections instead of only 16 as at present. It was ordered that the new ordinance shall be enforced only on streets where signs are already in place. At the new stop intersections, no arrests will be made until arterial signs are erected.

The ordinance was adopted as published last week, with two additions, one requiring Western avenue traffic to stop before entering Center avenue, and the other providing that Water street traffic shall stop before entering Court street.

Jt Streets Listed

The new arterial ordinance repeats the one adopted Oct. 15, 1922, and says that "No person operating or driving any streetcar, automobile, motorcycle or other motor vehicle, or any vehicle drawn by any horse, or horses, or other animal, shall turn into, enter upon or cross any such arterial highway at the junction or intersection of any street or alley, without first coming to a full and complete stop."

The following are designated as arterial highways:

West Milwaukee street, entire length.

East Milwaukee street, entire length.

Watchmaking
as a Vocation

No craftsman commands greater respect for his scientific skill and knowledge than does the watchmaker and engraver. None enjoy lighter, cleaner or more fascinating work—nor in no other line can greater opportunities for individual skill and talent be found, than exists in the watchmaking business.

A Modern Course in Watchmaking and Engraving

It is no longer necessary to serve long years of apprenticeship to become a watchmaker. The Elgin College of Crafts of study accomplish the same and better results in less time.

Young men TODAY, study and become masters of Watchmaking, just as others study law or medicine or engineering.

If you have a natural love for fine mechanics, like to work with small tools, and have a good education—you too, can qualify for this Course of specialized training. Send for our free book, "Watchmaking as a Vocation," giving full particulars. Address Dept. N-20

Elgin Watchmakers College
ELGIN, ILLINOIS

Milton avenue, entire length.
North Bluff street, from north line of Milwaukee street to railroad viaduct.

Those portions of North Franklin street, Milwaukee, Palm, avenue and State, Franklin, State, the route of trunk highway 12 which lie between the south line of Wall street and the south line of Highland avenue.

South Jackson street, Milwaukee to bridge.

Pleasant and Court streets, from east side of Main to east side of Rock river.

Celena street, from Rock river to east line of Jackson.

South Main street, from south line of Milwaukee to south line of Sharon street.

Discussion of Signs

The new ordinance estimates the double stops necessary for Celena and Pleasant street traffic by doing away with South Franklin street as an arterial, and leaving South Jackson as the only through traffic street for the Fourth ward. It will, however, necessitate a triple stop for Franklin street travel, one at Celena, another at Pleasant, and another at Milwaukee, Celena, and Pleasant street traffic will have the right of way at Franklin but not at Jackson.

The committee recommended taking out the mushroom traffic lights and installing the new type of markers at the outside of crosswalks, but no action was taken. The committee reported that the new type of mushroom, while maintenance of them the past seven months has amounted to $145 additional. About 145 of the new type of markers would be necessary, at a cost not to exceed $5 each.

It was voted to start proceedings to bring about the laying of sanitary sewer lines as follows:

North street, High to north, 210 feet east and from Locust 175 feet west; Palm street, Laurel avenue to 525 feet south; Academy street, Pleasant street to alley and north in alley; Myrtle street, Olive to 250 feet north; Fourth avenue, Fifth to 375 feet west;

Hawthorne avenue, Milton to 400 feet east.

An amendment to the paving ordinance was passed under suspension of the rules upon motion of Councilman George A. Jacobs, making the city ordinance more stringent, which recently passed by the committee, but far away with the $2 fee on city dance permits and reducing the city license on dance halls from $25 to $15. The county requires a $5 fee for each dance permit and $10 yearly hall license fee.

Wiring Ordinance Submitted

The proposed ordinance on electrical inspection and wiring regulations was introduced and given its first reading. It is intended to be overruled June 3 for further consideration. The ordinance was submitted the same as published several days ago, with the exception of a provision prohibiting knob and tube wiring and a slight change in the fees. Instead of charging a certain amount for a fixed number of circuits and fixtures, the fee system proposed is five cents for every circuit, including switch, whether such outlet be in wall, ceiling or floor; and providing that the minimum be $2. It is also planned to eliminate any charge on portable electric fans.

D. J. Marcus gave a short talk in favor of the proposed ordinance.

Councilman Bernard Palmer and Jacobs were appointed as committee to meet with the Tele-phones, Elgin and Janesville Parks department in regard to what appropriation should be given the Parks for 1924. They will report at the next meeting.

The annual appropriation of $127 toward the Memorial day observance was ordered paid as usual.

Upon motion of Councilman Atwood a new street light was ordered installed at Richardson street and Elgin avenue intersection. Taxicab drivers' licenses were granted Robert Byrne, 534 Milton avenue, and Paul Schultz, 625 Chestnut street, on motion of Councilman Jacobs. Permit for a new sign was granted the Johnson Service Station, 1114-12 North Jackson street.

Councilman Mrs. Ernest H. Plaue's resolution, allowing W. T. Plaue & Sons to move a gasoline pump from 319 West Milwaukee street to their new building at 100-102 North Jackson street and to add another pump, was granted. Permission was also given to install a new gasoline tank on 52nd street, all without disturbing the pavement.

Petition for Gas Main

A petition from 31 people living on that section of South Jackson street and Eastern avenue to be paved this year, was read, asking that the New Gas Light company be required to lay a main there in advance of paving. It was pointed out that the street is to be widened to 72 feet and as a result the sidewalks will adjoin the curb, leaving no room for terrace gas mains.

The matter was left to the city manager to see that these people are given gas service.

M. T. Clark, general agent for the S. W. Brundage Shows, a carnival company with headquarters at Leavenworth, Kans., was denied a license to show in Janesville June 3-14, upon motion of Councilman Palmer.

The vote was unanimous. Mr. Clark intimated his company would show outside the city limits if not granted a city license. He offered to pay $50 a day license and said he was not trying to escape the fee by appearing under the auspices of some local organization.

It was agreed that no license should be required for the John Kelly "Miners" of the Farnie exposition to be held at the fair grounds June 10-11 under auspices of the Farnie Bureau. Three quest was made by Oscar N. Nelson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Nelson congratulated the council for denying the carnival company a permit, and counsell to participate in the G. A. R. encampment parade on June 18, also the fire and police department.

The council was in session two and one-half hours, adjourning at 10 p. m.
